CLASS CODE 7253

The following competencies have been identified as those that best separate superior from satisfactory job performance in the class of ENGINEERING GEOLOGIST ASSOCIATE. (Numbers refers to the order of competencies in the Competency Bank.)

- *12. Conscientiousness
- *20. Job Knowledge
- *29. Fact Finding
- *31. Results Orientation
- *33. Interpersonal Skills
- *35. Teamwork
- *45. Oral Communication
- *47. Written Communication

On the following pages are descriptions of each competency, including a definition, the level of the competency required for the class (italicized, bolded, and underlined), examples of behavioral indicators, and satisfactory and superior performance levels.

*Competencies necessary prior to job entry

12. CONSCIENTIOUSNESS – Dependable, reliable, diligent, and attends to all aspects of assignments (the “details”).

Level of Competency Required by Job:

Level 1: Remain on-task and make every reasonable effort to complete work in time allotted. Note discrepancies and takes action or informs appropriate person when “things don’t seem right” in information or data.

Level 2: Note when own work logically relates to the work of others and coordinate with them and when additional tasks must be performed to complete an assignment and perform/assign them. Recognize when, despite best efforts, work will not be done and notifies supervision.

Level 3: Attend to each area of responsibility, and if all are not being addressed, arrange for transfer or elimination of some of them. Ensure that all aspects of programs/projects are properly addressed to ensure success.

Examples of Behavioral Indicators:

- Seeks all necessary information to do the job well.
- Learns from experience so can recognize when things are not right.
- Maintains a high level of task-related behavior.
- Continues to work diligently in the absence of supervision.
- Fully attends to seemingly minor as well as major aspects of each work assignment.

Performance Levels

Satisfactory

Fully attends to work at hand; notes details, errors, and discrepancies and follows-up as necessary. Reliably performs and completes work. Punctual; respectful of others’ time.

Superior

Notes relationship of own work to work of others to ensure all aspects are coordinated. Performs additional tasks and otherwise follows-up to ensure thoroughness.

20. JOB KNOWLEDGE – Knows information required to perform a specific job. example, chemistry, human resources management, graphic arts) and City-specific information (parking regulation and ticketing practices; purchasing procedures; provisions of the City Charter).

Level of Competency Required by Job:

Level 1: Knowledge acquired after hire in a brief orientation, short training program, or through on-the-job training.

Level 2: Knowledge acquired through an apprenticeship or extensive training program, or long duration of job performance.

Level 3: Knowledge acquired through a prolonged external course of study and/or extensive training and experience within the City.

Examples of Behavioral Indicators:

- Performs work correctly/avoids technical (job content related) errors.
- Answers technical questions about work accurately.
- Asks few technical questions about the performance of routine work activities.
- Offers advice (“coaching”) to new employees regarding their work.
- Develops training programs for other employees.

Performance Levels

Satisfactory

Sufficient job knowledge to perform work correctly independently. Answers technical questions about work correctly.

Superior

Expertise in technical job information sufficient to serve as a resource to others. May develop training manuals/programs and/or give internal and/or external presentations related to work.

Job Knowledge Areas

1. Knowledge of engineering geology principles sufficient to assess site conditions.
2. Knowledge of geological concepts sufficient to apply to engineering and environmental problems, including groundwater resources and soil vapor hazards.
3. Knowledge of historical and structural geology, petrology, seismology, paleontology, stratigraphy, petrography, hydrology, chemistry, and physics sufficient to characterize a site for various public work and utility projects.
4. Knowledge of geology of Southern California sufficient to recognize existing geologic settings.
5. Knowledge of rock and soil sampling methods sufficient to log boreholes, test pits and trenches.
6. Knowledge of research techniques sufficient to select and analyze rock and earth samples collected during field investigations.
7. Knowledge of geological surveying and mapping procedures, techniques, and equipment sufficient to respond to landslides and other types of earth movements.
8. Knowledge of methods or procedures sufficient to identify and classify surface and subsurface geological formations.
9. Knowledge of equipment used by geologists such as microscopes, stereoscopes, Brunton compass, global positioning system (GPS), and drafting and surveying instruments sufficient to study, analyze, locate, and map the history of earth samples.
10. Knowledge of methodology required to read topographic maps and aerial photographs sufficient to perform various geological investigations.
11. Knowledge of civil and geotechnical engineering principles, including drafting and surveying, concrete structures, and strength of materials sufficient to communicate with engineers.
12. Knowledge of technological developments and sources of engineering or environmental geology information sufficient to continue their professional knowledge.
13. Knowledge of computer functions and common office software programs, such as word processing and computer-aided drafting (CAD) sufficient to prepare geologic reports.
14. Knowledge of environmental site assessment and remediation principles sufficient to aid in remediation of contaminated sites.

29. FACT FINDING – Obtains required information through questioning, review of existing materials, or securing new materials to answer a question or address a problem.

Level of Competency Required by Job:

Level 1: Look up information available in the workplace (including use of the internet) or by asking questions of co-workers or supervisor.

Level 2: Interview individuals and/or obtain necessary information from files, the library, and/or the internet.

Level 3: Conduct in-depth interviews/interrogations or depositions.
